Charter May Not Get On November Ballot

A final draft of a new charter for Kingston, because the 12-member charter commission "wants to turn out something the people want" could be delayed beyond the deadline date for getting it on the November ballot, it was indicated today, but nothing official on that will be announced until after the commission meets Monday night.

Ira V. D. Warren, of 19 Len Court, editor of The Kingstonian, and a member of the commission, today said he felt the commission would not have enough time to study all of the proposed changes and recommendations made at the July 24 hearing, before the filing deadline.

Attorney and Special City Judge Bernard A. Feeney Jr., the commission's chairman, who previously noted that the time limit "is a problem," said it will be discussed at the Monday night meeting, but no decision will be announced officially until after the meeting.

Top among problems to be aired, he said, was proposed redistricting of the city's wards.

The commission, he emphasized, wants to arrive at a solution to this and other problems, which will be satisfactory to the people of the city, and a final draft will not be presented until it is felt that the people are satisfied that they have a workable charter.

Attorney S. James Matthews, who spoke for about an hour at the hearing Wednesday, proposed several changes, and urged that the commission be guided by a "go slow policy." He held that the charter was "very inept" in language, was "philosophically wrong" was unconstitutional in some minor aspects and had other shortcomings.

Others agreed with him that there appeared to be "too big a rush" to get the proposed charter submitted for a vote.

Airport Board Is Vital to County: State CD Officer

Commenting on the "Survey of Air Commerce Potential at an Airport Serving the Mid-Hudson Area" by the Bureaus of Aviation and Research, W. Dale Swartzmiller, Kingston, regional director of the State Commerce Department, said a tri-county airport would be important to bringing new industry to the area.

Director Swartzmiller said it would be advantageous to Ulster County if the Board of Supervisors would establish a County Airport Commission such as the commission which the commissioners functioning in Dutchess and Orange Counties.

The report of the state survey was based on an extensive mail and personal survey in the Dutchess-Orange-Ulster County area. The survey showed that responses demonstrate that 62,000 passengers annually are available for conveniently scheduled flights from a Mid-Hudson airport.

Location Up to People

The Commerce Department director noted the 75-page survey report purposely avoided any suggestion as to the location of an airport. "That is not for us to say," he said. "That is for the people in the area to decide."

It is the opinion of Director Swartzmiller that the three counties could support such an airport.

In order to determine which part of the Mid-Hudson area was most central for its potential airport patrons, center of gravity were located based on the general population and also on

Legalized Bets Would Hit Poor, Carino Declares

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Governor-sponsored betting would lure housewives, juveniles and relief recipients into gambling and would hit hardest at low-income families, Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carino contends.

In any extension of legalized gambling, Carino said Thursday, the wealthy would continue to utilize "those forms that are presently available to them such as stock market speculation or betting at the track."

Carino, a Republican, criticized further extension of legalized gambling in New York State in an article published in "County Government," the official journal of the New York State Association of County Officers.

It would be "the housewife, even the relief recipient (who) would be confronted with the lure of the convenient bet, the government - sponsored get-rich-quick," Carino said.

The speaker said juvenile gambling is another social problem generated "by easily available, government-sanctioned betting."

convention is expected to be held at Rosendale, the home township of the new president.

Expected to succeed to first vice president is Dominick Constantino of Highland Hose Company.

Considerable strength has been reported for the election of John McCombs of Pioneer Engine Co., Ellenville, as second vice president.

22nd Term Due

Frederick C. Harder of Weiner Hose, Kingston is expected to be elected to his 22nd term as association secretary, and Henry DuBois, mayor of New Paltz and a member of New Paltz Fire Department has been asked to accept a 20th term as treasurer.

The term of one director, Percy Bush of Ulster Hose Company No. 5, expires this year and convention sources indicate a contest may develop between Bush who is reportedly seeking reelection; Oscar Lambert, association president in 1961 and chief of Esopus Fire Department, and Ernest Ahlberg of New Paltz Fire Department, who was association president in 1960.

Other directors and unexpired terms include Lee Keator, New Paltz; one year; John Ludlow, Ellenville, two years; Morton Finch, Kingston, board chairman, three years, and Edward Mains, Port Ewen, four years.

The convention agenda will include reports of officers, committee chairmen and Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder.

To Report on By-Laws

The association's board of directors will report on recommendations for revision of by-laws. Changes proposed include increasing the number of directors elected from five to seven. Another revision if approved would permit the association's president-elect to name a chaplain for association functions.

Saugerties Supervisor Peter M. Williams and Mayor William Ziegler will deliver welcoming speeches.

George W. Gardner, convention chairman will report on arrangements for the annual parade Saturday which starts at 2 p. m. from Barclay Heights.

Thirty-five county and neighboring fire companies will display fire fighting apparatus and

250 Pickets Ask More Negro Help

NEW YORK (AP) — About 250 chanting, singing pickets, both whites and Negroes, showed up today at a Brooklyn hospital building site in a demonstration demanding that more Negroes be hired in the public construction industry.

The Rev. William A. Jones Jr., a Negro civil rights leader, told newsmen that no sit-downs were planned for today.

"We are just going to picket," he said.

Six police vans stood by, with patrolmen ready to take away any sit-downers. A crowd of at least 200 bystanders watched.

Two more persons—one white, one Negro—were scheduled to be sentenced later today, having been convicted of disorderly conduct after a sit-down at a Manhattan housing project.

Ready for Long Puff

The Rev. Gardner C. Taylor, Negro leader and one of those arrested at the Brooklyn site Thursday, said Thursday night the demonstrations would go on "for the long puff."

Taylor was among 84 persons, both Negro and white and including 23 other clergymen, arrested at the Downstate Medical Center.

Scheduled for sentencing in Criminal Court today were Robert Gore, 31, a Negro, and Walter Flesch, 25, who is white. Both were convicted of disorderly conduct and trespassing at the Rutgers Housing project.

Five Manhattan defendants who received 30 and 60-day workhouse sentences after disorderly conduct convictions at the same project were released in one dollar bail each pending appeal. They spent a night in prison after being sentenced Wednesday.

500 Arrested

A total of 621 arrests have been made of persons taking part in civil rights demonstrations in the city in the past three weeks, police said.

The only violence at the hospital site Wednesday involved two Negro women, charged with assaulting a patrolman in the face and chest while being carried to a police van.

One group of 14 chained themselves together and police had to use heavy shears to cut them (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

8 Counties Turned Down by State As Drought Areas

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Eight drought-plagued counties have been turned down by the State Disaster Committee in their bids to be declared drought-emergency areas.

The committee refused this week to recommend drought emergencies be declared in Albany, Rensselaer, Fulton, Clinton, Ontario, Yates, Chautauqua and Cattaraugus counties.

State Will Speed Up Building To Promote Work

Steps to accelerate New York State government building programs to provide employment for workers in the building trades industry, were discussed at length Thursday at a meeting with Governor Rockefeller in New York City.

George E. Yerry Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, attended the session, which also was attended by the Governor's staff, president of the New York City Building Trades Employers, president of the New York City Building Trades Employers and staff and representatives of unions and management of the building trades industries in the state.

100,000 Need Jobs

Yerry stated that discussions were centered on proposals to accelerate the State Government building program including the State University program, middle income housing and cooperative and mental institutions.

It was noted by Yerry that evidence indicated that at present 100,000 building trades union members are unemployed, with the greatest number reported in the Rome-Utica area, and Buffalo, Nassau and Suffolk Counties and a lesser number in the Hudson Valley.

$600 Million Program

Governor Rockefeller explained that it is planned to proceed with $600 million in building construction within the next 24 months and it is anticipated that contracts for about $400 M in building construction will be let in the next 12 months. The Governor reportedly said he hoped this would unlock many construction industry doors for Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

James P. McKenna, president of the New York State Building Employers Association, estimated that the new contracts would produce 4,000 new "on-

Grant Store Is To Change Soon To Discount Mart

The closing of the W. T. Grant store at 307 Wall Street at the conclusion of its store-wide clearance sale now in progress, and the re-opening of the store later by Diskay Discount Mart, a division of W. T. Grant Company, was announced today.

William Rotunda, manager of the W. T. Grant store at 307 Wall Street, today announced the closing of that store at the conclusion of the present store-wide clearance sale.

Elsewhere in the state, according to the Associated Press, the month would go down as one of the driest on record.

While the rainfall locally has exceeded that in other areas, Ulster County can claim a swelling consistency with the rest of New York State.

Heat Continues

Temperature-wise, the area has kept on par with other areas, with 12 days of 90-degree-and-above readings. The month's record high to date was 99 degrees on July 2 in Kingston, but a trend of the last two days indicates that the mercury is heading that way again. The forecast has no immediate relief in sight, except for a chance of scattered, late afternoon or evening thunderstorms.

The month's hot weather began July 1 with a high temperature of 96 following an overnight low of 69. On July 2, the high of 99 followed an overnight low of 71, but the high of that date was no record. The mercury hit

Soldiers 'Sharper,' Arms Complex

Today's Draftees Have Higher IQ: Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Draftees today are brighter boys than those inducted during World War II and Korea, the Pentagon's personnel experts believe.

Mental standards for inductees were raised last May 1. But the trend toward more selectivity in Selective Service had been under way for several years. Soldiers have to be mentally sharper because the equipment they handle now is more complex.

Since Korea, only the Army has used the draft. Asked how present

Cottekill

COTTEKILL — Worship service at Cottekill Reformed Church Sunday 9:30 a.m. the Rev. Herbert Killender will deliver the message. This will be the last service until Sunday, Sept. 1.

The Misses Mimi and Barbara Enders are vacationing with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Enders.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Keator of Berganfield, N. J. spent last Thursday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Keator and returned with their daughter Karen, who vacationed with her grandparents.

Bruce Bockleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bockleman is working at Sehon Lodge, Tupper Lake, this summer.

Mrs. Anna Boo of New Paltz visited her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Mockovak and daughters, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller and daughters Judy and Janet, motored to the Bronx, Sunday to take his father Mr. Herman Miller Sr. home from a three-week vacation.

Hans Enders of Miami Beach, Fla., is visiting his brother and family Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Enders and their grandchildren.

William Muller formerly of this village and now with the United States Air force, called on some of his friends Wednesday. He is stationed in Germany and has traveled over most of the continent. He is on leave at present and is with his grandparents in Ellenville.

Miss Barbara Williams returned home after two days in the hospital.

draftees stack up against those of the past two wars, the Army said:

"On the average, the quality of draftees today is better than World War II and Korea because the mental standards for induction are higher. Therefore, fewer lower mental category personnel can qualify for service. On the other hand, fewer high mental category personnel are being inducted today because of a smaller draft than in World War II and Korea."

Physical standards have not changed.

Peacetime Deferments Higher

The rejection rate on the basis of mental tests (which really mean how much native intelligence and ability to learn a man has) is higher now, partly because the military can be more selective in peacetime than in war. Moreover, deferments for those who qualify can be and are higher in peacetime.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, estimates, for example, that about 300,000 are deferred now so they can go to college. But in testifying before the House Armed Services Committee recently, Hershey hastened to say that "I don't want to claim that we are keeping these boys in college, because we couldn't induct them in any great numbers if they didn't go to college."

Draft to Continue Indefinitely

Hershey's view seems substantiated by draft quota figures. Only 4,000 draftees were asked by the Army for each of the months of January and February, while the high point so far this year is the 12,000 monthly quota set for August and September. Army strength now totals about 970,000.

The draft law was extended for another four years by the present Congress. How long will a draft system be needed?

"It is our judgment," say the military manpower experts, "that the Selective Service System and the authority to induct will be required so long as the international situation remains substantially unchanged."

There was a 15-month period in 1947-48 when the draft law lapsed, after the end of World War II and before the Communist threat began looming large. But since September 1950, a total of 2,845,450 will have been drafted when the September quota is filled.

Boy, 4, Crushed Against Porch by Family Car

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Four-year-old Steven Brodeur was killed Thursday when a younger brother started the family automobile and it bolted backward in the driveway at his home and pinned Steven against a porch. Police said Steven's brother, David, 3, climbed into the car, which was parked in reverse, when his mother was not looking and turned the ignition.

The mother, Mrs. Richard H. Brodeur, had returned from shopping to her home in suburban Cliffhaven and was unloading groceries.

The father is an Air Force captain stationed at Plattsburgh Air Force Base.

Physical standards have not changed.

Mary E. Conway Named to Head HV Nursing Group

In an effort to invite attendance and active participation of lay people in the League's program, Miss Conway announced that Miss Estelle Osborne, director of services to State Leagues, will speak on September 12 on how the League for Nursing works as a community agency and how other community agencies can cooperate. The meeting is open to the public. Time and place of the meeting will be announced.

Monks Hold Daily Services At New World Bethlehem Site

By DAN PERKES

BETHLEHEM, S.D. (AP)—High on a rim of Elk Creek Canyon in the Black Hills National Forest, lies the little town of Bethlehem.

Since 1956, Benedictine fathers and monks of Conception Abbey of Conception, Mo., have been building living quarters, repairing washed out roads and constructing a shrine at Crystal Cave.

The shrine, built near the entrance, is deep enough to provide an atmosphere of warmth and serenity.

Large Summer Staff

During the busy summer tourist season, Father Gilbert says, additional monks are supplied and numerous laymen from the United States and Canada donate their time.

The shrine, built near the entrance, is deep enough to provide an atmosphere of warmth and serenity.

Two Services Daily

Services are held at the shrine twice each morning during the summer and on special religious days throughout the year. Special Easter and Christmas services are attended by residents throughout the Black Hills and surrounding states.

Founded by Stack

Father Gilbert Stack is the founder of Bethlehem, S.D.

An old mule barn was converted into living quarters for the monks.

The Shrine of the Nativity, a replica of one in the Holy Land, was built inside Crystal Cave.

"Christ was born in a stable in a cave and the Church first took hold in the Rome Catacombs during 300 years of persecution," Father Gilbert explains.

Cavernous Heritage

"St. Benedict, patron saint of cave explorers, lived in a cave for three years before he founded the famous order of Monte Cassino Abbey," he adds.

Two priests are permanently in residence at the shrine. They are assisted by laymen who are oblates of Conception Abbey.

Stamford Dairy Goes to Court on Gallon Milk Sale

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP) — Owners of a Stamford dairy protested today that six dairies and a Teamsters Union local in Westchester and Putnam counties have been harassing the company since it began selling milk in gallon jugs.

Prospect Dairy Inc. sought an injunction in State Supreme Court to halt what the company said was a conspiracy to prevent Prospect from operating in the two counties.

Prospect also has filed suit asking $2 million in damages and a permanent injunction against the respondents. They are:

Dellwood Dairy Inc. of Yonkers; Emmadine Farms Inc. of Millwood; Dutcher's Dairy Inc. and Kuritzky's Dairy Inc., both of Peekskill; Tilly Foser Inc. of Brewster; Foley's Washington Dairy of North Tarrytown; and Local 338, Milk Drivers and Dairy Employees, Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Prospect said the dairies banded together last January when the company began selling milk in gallon jugs in the counties at a price much lower than local dairies charged for four individual quarts.

Prospect president Hubert A. Harwood said in an affidavit the local dairies told him he was spoiling their market and would be driven from the area unless he stopped gallon-jug sales.

Harwood said that, when he refused to stop, the dairies induced the union to picket his non-union plant and stores that sold Prospect milk. The dairy's drivers, employees and some customers were threatened and intimidated, Harwood alleged.

The damage suit asks compensatory and punitive judgments of $1 million each for "irreparable injury" to the company's business.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Recently I copied the following from a new sign erected on the corner of Fair and Pearl Streets, which reads: "The congregation of the Fair Street Reformed Church meets here in the oldest public worship building in Kingston. Established as the Second Reformed Dutch Church of Kingston in January, 1849. The small group of 27 people originally met for worship in the County Court House on Wall Street. In 1850 construction on the church began, using local Dolemite limestone taken from a quarry on upper Pearl Street. The Church was originally graced by a steeple purported to be the highest construction of its time out of New York City. On March 17, 1854, it was blown over in a very heavy gale. Only the steps in front of the church were damaged by the fall, but the steeple was never replaced. In 1883 the co-operative name of the church was changed to Fair Street Reformed Dutch Church. In memory of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stewart. Given by their family."

Then looking in William C. DeWitt's book, "People's History of Kingston," he tells about the falling of the steeple on page 97 and 98. "All inhabitants in the vicinity were warned to close their homes and temporarily remove elsewhere by order of the authorities and the Shaw family, living across the street and other occupants obeyed. It is said a crowd of some 1000 spectators stood about in the tornado, having noticed the swaying of the steeple, which blew down and was never rebuilt. The massive stone edifice, with cut-off tower is very impressive without the steeple."

I then found the following in the Ulster Republican of Wednesday, May 21, 1851, "The corner stone of the new Reformed Dutch Church, now erecting in this village, was laid yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large assemblage of our citizens and others from the vicinity, who had come to witness the ceremony. The Rev. C. Van Santvoord invoked the blessing. The Rev. J. C. F. Hoes, pastor of the church, then presented and read a paper containing the volumes and documents which had been selected for preservation, in a box to be deposited under the corner stone." LEARN NOW, PAY LATER

As all parents with college-bound children know, the cost of higher education is reaching for the sky and shows no signs of leveling off.

A recent study by the University of Michigan reveals that the average annual bill for an American college student is $1,550. In a few years we may look back and wonder if things were ever that inexpensive.

But right now, this sum of money (it is only an average; costs can be much higher at individual schools) looms as an insurmountable obstacle for far too many otherwise qualified high school graduates who are now going through a "summer of discontent" before reconciling themselves to the fact that college, through no fault of their own, is not for them.

Fortunately, there is another trend offsetting the gloom of this one: Sources of financial aid for students (over and above the traditional scholarships and part-time jobs) are increasing in number, size and availability.

Today, the financially hard-pressed student CAN get help in paying for his college education—not just the superior student, but the run-of-the-mill student whose grades are satisfactory.

Last year at Tulane University, for instance, 2,200 students—nearly half the full-time enrollment—received financial aid from various sources totaling $2 million.

The university itself makes loans running some $400,000 yearly, on liberal terms. Other important sources include:

The National Defense Student Loan Program, under which needy students may borrow up to $1,000 for one academic year and up to $5,000 for the entire course of their higher education. They may take as long as 10 years to repay the loan, at 3 per cent annual interest, beginning a year after they graduate. In addition, those who go into teaching can get writeoffs of up to 50 per cent of the loan.

Private educational financing organizations also are playing a growing part. Under some plans, the family repays tuition loans in monthly installments.

Still another source is commercial banks. Loans can be negotiated on a long-term basis with interest usually lower than on other types of loans. An advantage here is that a family need not be "needy" but merely have a good credit record.

Thus, while college costs have increased tremendously, ways to meet those costs also have increased—thanks to national and local governments, public and private groups, profit and nonprofit organizations.

All are resolved that in America, no qualified young person be denied access to the best education he is capable of mastering.

Rusk says the nation is heading for a deep racial crisis, and here we thought the nation was already in it. How deep can a crisis get?

HALL OF FREE ENTERPRISE

A short time ago ground was broken for the erection of the Hall of Free Enterprise at the New York World's Fair.

This is a unique and stimulating undertaking. As Jenkin Lloyd Jones describes it in the Washington, D. C., Star, "It is a new idea—using a building at a major exposition for the purpose of going over to the offensive in the debate with creeping socialism. The estimated $2 million, which it will cost, is being solicited frankly and openly from individuals and corporations who are sold on the advantage of a free market economy.

"In the face of manifold failures of the Left, it's time the forces of free enterprise stand up and crowed a little."

The theme of the exhibit will be the Ten Pillars of Economic Wisdom. These are the principles that make for growth, production, high living standards and all the other desired ends—and do it in a climate of freedom, without government domination. Some 70 million people, 3.5 million of them foreigners, are expected to attend the fair. May many of them visit the Hall and leave it with a new and abiding realization of the

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
ROMNEY IMPROVES THE DAY

MIAMI BEACH, FLA.—The fifty-fifth annual Governors Conference, which brought an unusual mid-summer crush to some of Miami Beach's better hotels, tried its best to get down to the sober business of considering administrative topics that might be of equal interest to state executives in Vermont and Mississippi. It was obvious all along, however, that the chief issue agitating the participants was next year's Presidential election. The sad thing about the whole affair resided in its disclosure that it is practically impossible for a professional politician who has been bitten by the Presidential bug to distinguish between a hatchet and a boomerang.

Wielding a well-honed blade, Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York succeeded in nicking the hides of practically every Democratic governor who was present. The Rockefeller effort to force the conference to make a unified statement on such matters as a public accommodation law for negroes put the Democrats, who included segregationists Wallace and Barnett, very much on the spot. Fourteen Republican governors were happy to accept the discomfiture of the Democrats in this matter. But, perversely, it did Rockefeller no good with most of the Republicans who were present. So, as far as the Rockefeller hatchet was concerned, it turned into a boomerang as it affected the New York Governor's own cause. The boomerang also hit Oregon's Governor Hatfield, who associated himself with Rocky's efforts.

While Rockefeller was busy kicking the Democratic governors without adding to his own popularity among Republicans, Governor George Romney of Michigan looked like the cat who had just eaten the canary. Though he continued to disclaim any Presidential aspirations, Romney used the conference to make a high-level case for himself as a constructive statesman. He deplored the fact that the civil rights issue was being used to divert the governors from considering such things as state sovereignty in welfare matters.

At the same time he observed that Michigan, acting as a humane state, had had a public accommodation law requiring restaurants and hotels to serve negroes as well as whites ever since 1888, when Grover Cleveland was still in his first Presidential term. Finally, Romney came up with a suggestion that "accentuated the positive" in the vexing business of trying to improve the international balance of payments situation that has been running against the United States.

The Kennedy approach to the problem of the gold drain, as Romney has observed it, is punitive. To cut down on the outflow of American dollars, Kennedy has cracked down on the amount of purchases that tourists are permitted to bring in without paying a duty. He has also proposed penalizing Americans who would like to buy such international stocks as Royal Dutch Shell or Volkswagen or Imperial Chemicals.

Such measures may serve to lessen the pressure on U. S. gold stocks, but they also stand to decrease the total amount of business done in the western world. Thus they give aid and comfort to the Communists.

Romney's proposed way of limiting the gold drain would be to give special advantages to U. S. companies that sell abroad. But he did not suggest anything as controversial as a straight export subsidy. His idea would be to let our big manufacturing companies engage in a species of individual, tariff-free barter agreements with foreign producers. Picking Michigan automobile companies as his example, he outlined a hypothetical situation as it might affect trade with Canada. To the extent that an American automobile manufacturer might use Canadian-made aluminum parts in his cars, that much aluminum might be allowed to come into the U. S. from Canada without the payment of a tariff.

A similar concession might be made on African copper used in the manufacture of American automobiles. Conversely, the U. S. would be expected to try for an equivalent reduction of penalties on the export of Michigan cars to Canada or South Africa.

The Romney proposal would serve to maximize the amount of business done throughout the free world. But it would do this without adding to the pressure on the U. S. gold reserve.

In offering his idea to the assembled governors both Rockefeller and Hatfield were busy confusing hatchets with boomerangs. Romney clearly added to his own stature.

Sore Lymph Nodes Signal The Presence of Infection

Q—I am 60 years old. The lymph nodes on the right side of my neck get swollen and sore. After several days this clears up but it always comes back again later. What causes this and what should I do?

A—The lymph nodes all over the body act as screen or sieve to trap disease germs and keep them from spreading to vital organs. Whenever infection is stopped in a lymph node, the node itself becomes hard and sore. The lymph nodes in the neck receive blood and lymph from all parts of the head. Often when one of these nodes is tender it is possible to find a sore on the scalp, in the nose, or in the mouth.

Canker sores and fever blisters almost always cause soreness in these lymph nodes. When the source of the infection clears up the lymph node returns to normal. If the source can be found it should be treated. If not and the soreness in the lymph node is severe, you can apply hot towels for 20 to 30 minutes, two or three times a day.

Q—I am a 50-year-old woman and would like to know what makes me belch after almost every meal?

A—Belching after meals is due almost entirely to swallowing air along with your food. Some people swallow more air than others. This is especially true if they eat hurriedly without chewing their food thoroughly and wash each mouthful down with a swallow of fluid. Often when a person has a feeling of fullness in the stomach and tries to belch he swallows a large amount of air thus pumping the stomach up like a balloon. It is sometimes hard to differentiate between the noise of this type of air swallowing and a true belch. A hiccup is an example of involuntary air swallowing.

Q—When I had my twins the smaller came first and the second one suffocated. It was a breach baby. They were born three weeks prematurely. Is this common? If I become pregnant again would I be likely to have twins? Could heavy housework cause premature birth? If I had twins again would it be possible for both to live?

A—When twins are present in the uterus, premature delivery is more likely than when there is a single fetus. Continuous overwork in the last three months of pregnancy has been known in some cases to cause premature delivery but there are many other causes that must be considered. In any delivery a breech presentation carries an increased risk of suffocation of the baby if delivery is prolonged. Some women appear to be especially likely to have twins more than once. The diagnosis of twins can usually be made before delivery and adequate preparations made to save the lives of both babies.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

For the long haul, the most important part of President Kennedy's special message to Congress on the railroad crisis may be his proposal for handling all technological unemployment.

This would make "automation"

the key word in the rail dispute.

It would replace "featherbed-

" and "compulsory arbitra-

" as the catch phrases naming the issue up to now.

The President's proposal to turn the case over to the Inter-

State Commerce Commission may or may not be accepted by Congress. If Congress does pass the proposed joint resolution before July

29, and if the ICC can then impose temporary work rules, the trains will be kept running for at least two years.

The hope is that in this period the railroad employers and their on-train employees will settle their differences by collective bargaining. But they already have bargained unsuccessfully on the work rules issue for four

He falls back on the old standby gimmick of bureaucracy. He will appoint a committee to study the problem. This one will be called the Presidential Commission on Automation.

It's job will be to identify and describe the major types of worker displacement likely to occur in the next 10 years. It will recommend just what pri-ivate business and organized labor should be responsible for in solving the problems caused by automation. It will recommend that state and local governments should be responsible for retraining workers by labor-saving technological advances.

The extent to which the government would bear the costs of technological displacement for both management and labor is spelled out in an earlier paragraph of the President's message. There are no dollar figures mentioned, but the total would be millions.

The nation as a whole, which shares in the benefits, also would bear part of the burden imposed by advancing railroad technology," says the President.

To the extent that retraining benefits are now available to railway workers under the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962, the carriers would be relieved of this obligation, the message points out.

Under the proposal submitted by the carriers to their on-train employees, the employers themselves offer to give displaced workers substantial dismissal rights, preferential rehiring rights, or liberal allowances to retrain for new skills.

Shelter Survey Lists Available County Locations

Charles L. Arnold, deputy director of Ulster County Civil Defense, has announced that a survey of suitable community fallout shelter space in the county made by Perkins and Will, architects and engineers of White Plains, has been completed.

This survey was made by Perkins and Will under contract from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

To meet the standards required by the federal government, each building had to have sufficient fallout protection to prevent intake of 1/100th or less of outside contamination. In addition each shelter area had to accommodate a minimum of 50 people and the federal government must have been given permission in writing to mark and stock it.

Due to these limitations the number of persons that can be accommodated in safe community shelters is small compared with the total county population. It would appear that the home-type shelter in the cellar is the backbone of the shelter program. This office strongly recommends that families without home shelters give the matter serious consideration.

Following is a list of buildings in the county with addresses which have been designated safe community shelters together with the number of people that can be accommodated in each.

In Kingston, the buildings are listed by wards. In the county they are listed by townships. These buildings have been stocked and marked "Fallout Shelter" with these two exceptions: The Governor Clinton Hotel can accommodate 458 people in the basement and on the second floor but is not marked or stocked as permission was given after the Army Engineers had left the area. This will be remedied at the next inspection.

The cement mines on Delaware Avenue are marked but not stocked due to the fact that at certain times of the year considerable water seeps into the caves. Further consideration is being given to stocking the caves.

All citizens should decide on the shelter nearest them and plan to take shelter there when warned to do so by the County Civil Defense director.

Available shelters in the rest of the city include Delaware Avenue Cement Mines in the Fifth Ward accommodating 16-380; basement of Kingston High School; Vocational Building, Ninth Ward, 82; KHS basement, 170; and George Washington School, 11th Ward, 125.

Set New 15-Hour Poll Schedule

Election day polls Nov. 5 will be open from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. and for all elections in future years.

The new law is explained in the New York State Department's 1963 Election Law booklet, a 378-page volume describing the current political calendar and all aspects of the state's election processes.

Previously, polls were open only from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m., except for major elections, in which the hours were extended by special act of the legislature.

Registration days for the general election this year will be Oct. 4, 5, 11 and 12. Registration days outside the city are Oct. 5 and 12.

Those who have voted within the past four years and are still living at the same address do not have to register.

Voters who work or attend school outside of Ulster County may register now during Central Registration, which will continue until Sept. 20 at the elections office, 74 John Street. Absentee ballots may also be requested.

The booklet can be procured by sending one dollar to the Department of State, Election and Law Bureau, 164 State Street, Albany.

Canal Improvement Bill For $6.8 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to provide an additional $6.8 million for improvements on the 184-mile section of the New York State Barge Canal linking Waterford and Oswego has been introduced to Congress.

The present ceiling on federal aid to lower lock sills and raise bridges on that section of the canal is $28 million. About $25 million has already been spent.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, who introduced the bill Thursday with Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, both New York Republicans, said the cost of work, first authorized in 1955, is expected to reach $35 million.

Hero Will Retire

HONOLULU (AP) — The only Medal of Honor winner serving with the military in Hawaii is retired after a 20-year Army career. Master Sgt. William K. Ross, a native of Stearns, Ky., who also wears the French Croix de Guerre and four Purple Hearts, won the nation's highest military award in 1944. He stayed alone in a foxhole in France for five hours of single-handed combat in which he killed or wounded 58 Germans so his wounded comrades could be evacuated.

Ross is now serving as a weapons platoon sergeant with the 25th Infantry Division at Schofield Barracks. He teaches young GIs methods of survival under fire.

Poverty Threatens In Alaska Sector As Salmon Scarce

NAKNEK, Alaska (AP) — An aura of helpless insecurity, tinged with anger, settled over Alaska's Bristol Bay area today in the wake of the worst salmon season ever for the bay's rich red salmon fishery.

In normal years, hordes of red salmon, a fish highly prized by the canning industry, enter the bay in early July en route to spawning streams.

This year, the red run, for some as-yet-unexplained reason, was a mere trickle.

3,500 Are Hurt

It left the some 3,500 persons of the area, whose living is tied primarily to the red salmon, on the brink of poverty, with a harsh Alaskan winter coming on.

The state and its congressional delegation have asked President Kennedy to declare the Bristol Bay a disaster area.

The total 1963 American catch on the bay, an arm of the Bering Sea 350 miles southeast of Anchorage, was only an estimated 2.5 million reds, compared with a catch of 2.9 million in 1958, the worst previous year on record.

The Bristol Bay red run produced 203,700 cases of canned salmon this year, compared with 926,441 cases in 1961, the top pack in the last 10 years on the bay.

Look to Japanes

An important question mark in the failure of this year's Bristol Bay run, to fishermen and to state officials alike, is the extent of the Japanese high seas catch.

Prohibited by the International North Pacific Fisheries Convention from high seas salmon fishing east of 175 degrees west longitude, the Japanese nevertheless take many immature Bristol Bay reds west of that abstention line.

It has been a source of constant irritation to Bristol Bay fishermen, who are not permitted to fish for salmon outside territorial waters, and to state officials, who have placed strict restrictions on Alaskan fishermen in an effort to conserve and to perpetuate the Bristol Bay red fishery.

The report cited that all 10 centers of gravity lie within a reasonably small rectangle, less than three miles north and south of Dutchess County airport, and stretching about seven miles west of it.

The rectangle is bisected by the Hudson River and lies in the southeast corner of Ulster County and between Poughkeepsie and Wappingers Falls in Dutchess. The Dutchess airport is a half mile east of the rectangle, and Stewart Air Force Base at Newburgh is about five miles south of it, the report states.

de Gaulle's government reaffirmed that it would not be bound by the agreement in its efforts to make France an independent nuclear power.

Stirs Red Chinese

Red China, striving to become a nuclear power itself as it moves farther away from the Soviet Union in the world Communist alignment, denounced the agreement in advance.

Right up to the time of the negotiations, there were fears the negotiations might collapse under Soviet demands that the treaty be limited with a nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and its Communist counterpart, the Warsaw Pact.

Very Direct

In the treaty—a marvel of conciseness at about 800 words—each of the three powers "undertakes to prohibit, to prevent and not to carry out any nuclear weapon test or any other nuclear explosion at any place under its jurisdiction or control."

Then the treaty spells out that this ban covers "the atmosphere, beyond its limits, including outer space or under water, including territorial waters or high seas."

Further, the treaty provides a ban against tests "in any other environment if such explosion causes radioactive debris to be present outside the territorial limits of the state under whose jurisdiction or control the explosion is conducted."

U.S. officials explained that although underground tests are not included in the ban, they must be conducted in a way that keeps radioactive fallout from other countries.

No Mention of Controls

The agreement makes no mention of inspection or controls—the big stumbling blocks in previous test ban negotiations.

The United States and Britain insist that on-site inspections are needed to check on suspicious earth tremors as a guard against sneak underground tests. The Soviet Union has contended that such inspections would be only a cover for Western spying.

But the three powers agree that on-site inspections are not necessary to detect the tests covered in the agreement. They have said that explosion in the air, in space and under water can be detected by devices outside any country triggering such tests.

The agreement specified, however, that nothing in the treaty should prejudice "conclusion of a treaty resulting in the permanent banning of all nuclear test explosions, including all such explosions underground."

The treaty urged all other nations to join in the limited ban and pledges the three powers to refrain "from causing, encouraging or in any way participating in the carrying out of any nuclear weapon test whatever."

J. Edward Day Resigns as Mail Chief, to Law Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General J. Edward Day, who left a $60,000-a-year position as a West Coast insurance executive to join President Kennedy's Cabinet, has resigned to return to private life.

The Post Office Department confirmed Thursday night that Day submitted his resignation July 19 and that President Kennedy had accepted it. A spokesman said the effective date had been left to the President's discretion.

The White House had no immediate comment.

A source close to Day said he would be succeeded by former Sen. Benjamin A. Smith II, a former Harvard roommate of the President who served two years in the Senate after Kennedy's election to the presidency.

To Join Law Firm

Day, 49, will become partner in charge of the Washington law office of the Chicago firm of Sidney, Austin, Burgess and Smith.

Day was formerly an attorney with the firm, as was Adlai E. Stevenson, now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. Later Day served as Illinois commissioner of insurance during Stevenson's term as governor.

In his letter of resignation, Day said "because of an unusual opportunity that has been offered me, I can no longer postpone my return to private life."

He will be the third member of President Kennedy's original Cabinet to leave—but the first to return to private life. Abraham Ribicoff quit as secretary of welfare and was elected senator from Connecticut, while Arthur J. Goldberg resigned as secretary of labor to accept appointment as an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Others on the convention committee include Charles Granwehr, secretary; Edwin Van Wart, treasurer; Arthur S. Van Benschoten, refreshments; Charles Meisswinkle, co-chairman, in charge of publicity; Raymond Teitter, fund raising and Philip Breithaupt, dinner chairman.

Rainfall Up

100 on July 2, 1955 and again in 1958.

Cooler Weather Follows

The high temperature for July 3 and 4 was 88 each day. Several days of cooler weather followed but the mercury remained in the 90's for several days after July 15, until a high of 96 was reported on the 19th. A few cooler days followed until Wednesday's 91 and yesterday's 92.

The overnight low was 79 this date, and by 11:20 a. m. the mercury reached 86 with a threat of reaching the 90's by early afternoon.

Wettest days in the Kingston area were July 14, when 1.05 inches of rain fell, July 7 with .60 of an inch, July 8, with .85 of an inch, and the 20th with .65 of an inch.

AP Report

The Associated Press report from Albany:

The Weather Bureau forecast high temperatures in the 90's to nearly 100 today and Saturday in most of the eastern half of the state and around 90 in the western half—for the third day in a row.

The bureau said that this month so far was the driest July on record in the Albany area and that the situation was similar in other areas. The Binghamton - Oneonta section and parts of Long Island, however, have had above average rainfall this growing season, the bureau said.

Through July 25, Albany had only slightly more than half an inch of rain—51 inches. The previous record for the period was .57 inches in 1929. For the full month, the record was .62 inches in 1929.

Also through the 25th, the mercury had climbed to 90 or higher on seven days of this month in Albany.

8 Counties Turned pastures have been burned out because of lack of rainfall.

Committee approval on requests paves the way to allow soil bank reserve land to be used for grazing purposes.

The governor and U.S. secretary of agriculture also must approve requests before counties can be declared disaster areas.

The disaster committee turned down requests from six other counties last month. A previous application from Yates County was also refused last month.

The three-member committee of the U.S. Agriculture Department said of the eight latest requests: "The drought in each of these counties has been prolonged and severe, but the evidence submitted does not warrant declaring them as disaster areas."

Thirty-four counties in New York were declared disaster areas during last summer's drought.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON DISCUSSES THE COST OF LIVING

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 26—A few years ago I used to hear people grumbling about the high cost of living wherever I went. The other day it occurred to me that I had not heard much complaining along those lines for quite a while. I wondered whether consumers had simply become used to ever-climbing retail costs or whether the long-term climb had stopped without my realizing it.

What the Figures Show

Scouting about in my business library, I soon found some figures that I would like to pass along to you, because I believe you will be surprised at what they tell us about the present economic condition of the average American family. Living costs have, of course, been on the rise, long term, ever since the pit of the terrible depression of the early 1930's. On several occasions, especially after World War II, the advances were spectacular, and were keenly felt by all consumers.

But here is something that I do not see commonly stressed in the papers and magazines: Over the past five years, the consumer price index has moved ahead on average only 1 per cent a year. While this does represent some pressure on the upward movement of living costs, it shows remarkable stability when you consider that since 1939 the cost of living as measured by the Labor Department has skyrocketed 119 per cent. So it is not surprising that the average consumer has not suffered seriously from the 1 per cent annual boost of the past five years. Gains have simply not been big enough to cause grumbling.

Prices Versus Incomes

Beyond that, too, incomes have been swelling at a far more rapid rate than have retail prices of goods and services. Tracing the figures back to 1947, about half way between the end of World War II and the beginning of the Korean War, they show that the cost of living has moved up 30 per cent since that time. But take a look at U. S. incomes for the same span: They have climbed 127 per cent. Even the rather abrupt jump in consumer prices from 1957 to 1959 of 5.4 per cent looks pale beside the uprush of 24 per cent in personal income for the same two-year spell.

How About Pensions Workers?

When the cost of living climbs, nobody suffers more than those with a fixed income, such as those living on pensions, social security, or investments with a set interest. After the end of World War II and after the Korean War the swift uprush of living costs hurt such people badly. Over the past five years, while the pinch became very faintly tighter, it did not intrude so bitterly upon disposable income of those with fixed spending power as it had in previous years.

I am often asked whether the upspiral of retail prices and wage rates that has persisted since the early 1930's will continue indefinitely. At present there does not seem to be any reason to expect a reversal of this long-term wage-price inflation. But there are many factors which will be likely to hold it within reasonable check, at least for a considerable length of time.

Competition Has Its Value

Perhaps the most powerful check on the consumer price index over the past five years has been competition, both domestic and foreign. Rivalry will become only the more intense over the period ahead, and it will be virtually impossible for manufacturers or service vendors to hike prices substantially without losing their competitive position in both domestic and overseas markets. More likely, savings will be sought via wider technological improvements and automation. This will tend to hold at a minimum further wage-price increases.

THANK YOU NOTES SHOULD BE WRITTEN PROMPTLY

Q: What is the correct length of time for acknowledging wedding presents? I have sometimes waited as long as three months before knowing whether the bride received my present. This is disturbing as I usually have it sent directly from the store and have no way of knowing if it was received.

Just Touchy

A: The courteous bride always writes notes of thanks as soon as she possibly can. Sometimes if she received many presents this will take her some time, but certainly few brides receive such numbers as to excuse a three months delay in writing thank you.

Mother's Invitation Important

Q: Am I being needlessly punctilious in expecting a boy's mother to write to my daughter and ask her to visit them? The boy spent a week at our house not long ago at my daughter's invitation and she feels that inasmuch as I didn't write him, his invitation to her should also be sufficient. I know manners have greatly re-

We The Women Creative Homemaking

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Homemaking is an area in which your own personality can take over. Self expression can make it fun rather than a chore.

Furnishing a home is just a task to the woman who goes into a furniture store and buys whatever the salesman is able to sell her.

It's a satisfying, creative job to the woman who visualizes the kind of home she wants, works it out in her own mind and then puts it together piece by piece.

It's the same with entertaining. The woman who simply asks back the people who entertain her, and offers them exactly the kind of evening she offered her, finds entertaining a bore.

The woman who gets the crowd together because she enjoys them, is pretty sure they'll enjoy each other, and tries to plan an enjoyable evening, really likes entertaining.

The woman who never cuts her housework down to the essentials that are necessary for her family's comfort feels like a drudge.

But the woman who uses a little imagination and planning to create a pleasant home with little unnecessary work and worry clicks off her housework in a minimum of time, and has some time left to enjoy her home.

The job of homemaking can be a creative career. But it's just a job unless a woman sets out to express her own ideas, based on her family's needs.

New Zoning Ordinance Is Kiwanis Topic

A new zoning ordinance, to replace the current ordinance passed in 1927, was the subject of a talk at the Kingston Kiwanis Club by Attorney George Beck, a member of the city's zoning board.

Beck pointed out that the proposed new ordinance was the result of four years of effort under two city administrations, and opined that the Common Council would receive this ordinance for action at its August meeting.

Three zones, residential, commercial and industrial, were currently in effect in Kingston, "with non-conforming uses the worst problem at present," said Beck.

The speaker explained that the zoning ordinance in its present form had been misused in past years, and that precautions were suggested in the new ordinance to "protect areas" as they now exist. He illustrated the precautions as containing provisions for adequate parking space in off-street parking for various types of buildings, and also pointed out that office space would be provided surrounding the business areas.

Based upon a court decision in Buffalo where an objectionable junk yard was eliminated, Beck stated that it was now possible to legally enforce the removal of an objectionable business from a zone within a five year period.

The proposed new zoning ordinance would be a self-enforcing ordinance backed by City Court action, according to Beck. He also stated that the present Zoning Board would be increased from three to five members.

ABC's of Allowance

Dear Kathy: Some of my friends complain because their mothers and fathers cut down on dates or won't let them go to the movies as punishment for something they do wrong. I wouldn't mind that at all but my parents stop my allowance. They say it isn't something they have to give me and that I don't deserve it if I do something they don't like.

I never do anything awfully bad and losing spending money without warning fouls up my plans for weeks. It also means I can't go to movies, so I'm punished twice. Do you know what I mean and do you agree? — Garry

Sees 'Religious Fights' in State School Bus Plan

HARRISBURG (AP) — Religious fights would soar every school board election if a House plan for providing state bus transportation to non-public school children is enacted, the chairman of the Senate Education Committee said today.

An amendment that would permit, but not require, school districts to provide free transportation to private and parochial school pupils was given preliminary approval yesterday by the House.

"I am afraid that if we take the permissive amendment it would instigate and encourage a religious fight in every school board election," said Sen. Paul L. Wagner, R-Schuykill, education committee chairman.

"It is just not good for anybody whether they be Protestant, Catholic or Jew," he added.

Requires Another Vote

The House plan, added to a non-related school bill, still required another vote before going to the Senate.

Wagner was asked whether he would support a further amendment to make the proposal mandatory.

"I would rather see what would happen with the referendum proposal since a majority, I might add a substantial majority, of my committee wanted it."

Wagner's committee on Wednesday scrapped Gov. Scranton's proposal for state-paid transportation for private and parochial school children and added an amendment to ask the voters this November if they approved.

"Frankly, I think the referendum is the best answer," he added. "The issue seems to be getting very emotional."

Teachers Salary Increase

In other actions:

School finances — The House passed and sent to the Senate measures to increase teacher salaries by $23 million this year and raise school district subsidies by $35 million. The Senate is expected to give prompt approval to the administration plan.

Gravy train — The administration's plan to eliminate political division of dividends on state insurance suffered a severe setback in the Senate Insurance Committee, which voted to table it. A committee source said the house-approved plan has little chance of passage in the final days of the 1963 session.

However this becomes a brand new question if you are supposed to do chores to EARN an allowance. Punishment for skipping a job should involve taking away the rewards—in this case money!

Clubbed Boy With Bat, Goes To Sing Sing

Declares Hyde Park Protected by Troopers

A 41-year-old Poughkeepsie man was sentenced to a term of two to five years in Sing Sing prison in Dutchess County on Wednesday for clubbing a 15-year-old boy with a baseball bat on May 20, 1962.

Robert Joseph Craddock, 41, formerly of Ulster County, previously pleaded guilty to second degree assault. He was accused of assaulting a boy with a bat, causing a fractured skull after binding the boy to a tree.

Craddock was released in June from Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, Beacon, where he was committed last August by Acting County Judge W. Vincent Grady.

Assistant District Attorney John Heilman Jr., said the assault was "wanton, cruel, senseless and vicious," as he recommended a prison sentence.

First Accord Since WW 2

Test Ban Agreement Looks Like Way to Better Relations

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nuclear test ban agreement looks like a leap forward in the history of mankind. And maybe it is. But it wasn't unselfish and there are reasons for keeping your fingers crossed.

This was the first accord between the West and Russia in this field after almost continuous talking since World War II. It could be the beginning of much better relations and even more and far-reaching understandings.

But the motives were not all strictly humanitarian when the Americans, British and Russians Thursday in Moscow agreed to stop testing in the atmosphere, outer space and under the sea.

This country and Russia have about all the nuclear weapons they seem to think they need. It will take anyone else years to catch up. Testing is highly expensive. So by not testing they save money.

Dangerous Trigger
Certainly in time more nations will develop nuclear weapons of their own. The more the nations that have them, the greater the danger of triggering a world war.

The Americans, British and Russians hope by their agreement to discourage other would-be nuclear powers from going on to create their own nuclear weapons and test them.

For this reason Thursday's signers suggested other nations join their agreement. If there's no more testing by anyone, the world is spared radioactive fallout.

That would be an improvement but it's far from a sure bet.

The French are known to be developing nuclear weapons and the Red Chinese are suspected of doing so. The French have already done some testing, will probably do more. The Chinese are expected to start theirs in a year or two.

Calls It Device
Neither is bound by the Moscow agreement. And Thursday in Paris the French foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville, said that so long as the great nuclear powers do not disarm, then any ban on nuclear testing that they agree on is a device to try to freeze their monopoly.

The Red Chinese denounced the agreement before it was reached. Since they are breaking away from Russia, whom they distrust, they will undoubtedly try to build their own nuclear arsenal so as to be a match for Russia and the West.

Whether Russia abandons the agreement if the French test, or the United States does likewise if the Chinese test remains to be seen. Their agreement said any signer can ignore it if it thinks its interests are being jeopardized.

With the agreement only one day old, no one, including the signers, can say confidently how long it will last.

Nevertheless, because this country and Russia are years ahead of anyone else, they may not feel it necessary for some time to abandon the no-test agreement no matter what France and China do.

Serves Several Purposes
For Soviet Premier Khrushchev the agreement served several purposes besides those mentioned.

For one thing, he can make propaganda out of it by waving it as an example of Russia's good intentions. Then there was his fight with the Red Chinese.

They had denounced him before the rest of the Communist world for insisting communism could do

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will attend the Bohemian Club's annual encampment — for men only — on the Russian River, it was announced in San Francisco. He'll be the guest of James B. Black Sr., chairman of the executive committee of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev attended an Indian Embassy luncheon in Moscow for Indira Gandhi, daughter of Indian Prime Minister Nehru.

LONDON (AP) — Premier Cyrille Adoula of the Congo has invited Prime Minister Macmillan to visit the Congo at some "convenient time."

Adoula visited Britain for four days in an effort to repair damage to Anglo-Congolese relations as a result of the Katanga rebellion.

Not Flying Saucer

CHARLTON, England (AP) — The British army regrettably ended 10 days of excitement in this drowsy country community with an announcement that the mysterious 8-foot-wide crater in farmer Roy Blanchard's potato field was not caused by a flying saucer.

Army engineers dug out a half pound hunk of matter, said it appeared to be a meteorite and sent it to the British Museum for investigation.

Albany Motorcyclist Hurt, Issued Summons

An Albany motorcyclist was injured and charged with a motor vehicle violation as the result of a collision at 2:30 p. m. Thursday on Route 9W at the intersection of new Route 299 north of Highland.

Trooper G. W. Zappo reported that Payette, 20, of 487 Washington Avenue, Albany, was operating his motorcycle south on Route 9W when it was in collision with a 1957 car driven by Joseph Puccio, 39, of 47 Brescia Boulevard, Highland.

Payette was taken to St. Francis' Hospital, Poughkeepsie, and treated for lacerations of the face and head and possible cerebral concussion.

Trooper Zappo issued a summons to Payette charging him with failing to yield the right of way at a stop sign. The summons is returnable Aug. 1 before Justice of the Peace Philip Schunk, Town of Lloyd.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Seaholm Conducting Investigation

Two men were hospitalized after a three-car accident at 5:10 p. m. Thursday on the Edaville Mountain Road, about 150 feet south of Route 213. One was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance and admitted, the other was taken by ambulance to Benedictine Hospital, treated for shock and later released.

Deputy Sheriffs Jack Seaholm and John Daley, who investigated, reported that a car operated by Frank P. Tremmel, 78, of 117½ Pine Grove Avenue, pulled out from the side of the road and attempted to make a "U" turn in front of a car operated by Teodoric Marone, 62, of Rt. 5, Box 238-A, Kingston. The Marone car was struck by a following car operated by Charles Bishop, 24, Taylor Street, Bloomington. Bishop was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance for injury to his right arm and for X-rays.

Marone was taken to Benedictine Hospital suffering from shock and after treatment was released.

All three cars were damaged. The Marone car was forced off the road and struck a pole. The Bishop car was unable to avoid striking the Marone car.

A summons was issued Tremmel for making an improper turn. It is returnable before Justice Robert F. Stedje at 2 p. m. on Monday.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Oils continued in steady demand early today but the overall stock market moved irregularly in moderate trading.

Movements of most key stocks were fractional.

Even the normally wide-moving "glamour" issues in the photographic, office equipment, and electronic industries showed only small changes.

The failure of yesterday's strong early rally to carry through and the abrupt turnaround of the list after release of the Chrysler earnings seemed to reflect the fact that the market is still trying to build a strong base, analysts said.

Bethlehem eased in quiet trading on overnight news of its increase in profits which was not as sharp as those made by other steel companies.

Chrysler rebounded a point from its loss of 1% yesterday, then pared the gain to a fraction.

The record profits for Standard Oil (New Jersey) and the continued favorable attitude toward the oils as longer-term investment brought fractional gains to Jersey Standard, Royal Dutch, Standard of Indiana, and Pennzoil.

Rails posted a few minor gains.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also were irregular.

Corporate bonds were steady.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, July 26, the 207th day of 1963. There are 158 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1779, a French lieutenant-colonel named Fleury became the first foreigner to receive a medal from the U.S. Congress. He commanded the Colonial party which stormed the fort at Stony Point. As the first man to enter the main fort, Fleury quickly hauled down the British flag.

On this date:

In 1759, the French fortress at Ticonderoga, N.Y., was abandoned to the British.

In 1847, the Republic of Liberia was founded.

In 1908, the Bureau of Investigation—now the FBI—was created by Congress and placed under jurisdiction of the U.S. Attorney General.

In 1947, the U.S. armed forces were reorganized and unified with Navy Secretary James Forrestal appointed as first secretary of defense.

In 1956, 50 lives were lost when the Italian liner Andrea Doria collided with the Swedish liner Stockholm off Nantucket, Mass.

Ten years ago: The Korean war ended after more than three years when truce delegates signed an armistice at Panmunjom.

Five years ago: Queen Elizabeth II bestowed the title of Prince of Wales on her 10-year-old son and heir apparent to the British throne, Prince Charles.

One year ago: Britain's conservative government defeated a labor party censure motion prompted by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's wholesale reorganization of his government.

Now He Enjoys Sweet Smell of Success

This Maverick Hated Garlic So Bad It Killed Commies

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—All his life the young private had hated garlic.

One night a dozen years ago while on outpost duty atop a nameless ridge in Korea, he suddenly sniffed as a breeze wafted through the still blackness an odor he despised.

"I smell garlic," replied the private. "There must be an enemy patrol out there. Everything they eat is full of garlic."

They argued with him for a while, saying it was impossible for anyone to smell even garlic at that distance. Finally, as a precautionary measure they called for an artillery barrage on the dark ravine below.

"The next morning," recalled the private, now actor James Garner, "we found five men in the ravine."

Garlic no longer is a problem to Jim. Today he's enjoying the sweet smell of success as one of Hollywood's brightest new stars, after springboarding to fame in television.

Jim, currently starred with Doris Day in Universal's comedy, "The Thrill of It All," became an actor by accident.

"I didn't act until I was 25 or 26," Garner said. "I was scared to death of it."

Restless after 14 months service overseas and unable to decide on a career, he chanced to spy the name of producer Paul Gregory on a Los Angeles office building. Could that be the same Paul Gregory, then a soda jerk, he had known some years before?

It was. Gregory suggested Garner become an actor. Jim didn't think he was cut out for it.

After a tryout, a studio drama coach agreed with Garner.

Gregory landed him a bit part in a touring company of "The Cain Mutiny Court Martial."

As one of the judges who spoke

A TOP HAND—Mickey calls out as the three-year-old female gibbon goes about its job of breaking in Shetland ponies for youthful riders at a ring near Napa, Calif.

not a single line, Garner sat silently through some 512 performances.

"But the time wasn't wasted," remarked Jim. "I studied every performer's actions, learned what I could from him."

Garner next went from small to larger film roles. Then hit the big time in television in the "Maverick" series. A bit gunshy after appearing in 60 or 70 of its episodes, Jim returned to his first love—movies—and hopes to go on making pictures until he becomes to old and tired to carry the money all the way to the bank.

If you want top results...and economy...get TRITHION insecticide for your apples. Use it only after full leaf expansion to control mites, codling moth and aphids. Some growers have even found it effective against apple maggot (railroad worm) and bud moth.

It controls both mites and insects. That's economy. It can be used with other commonly used insecticides and miticides at reduced rates. That's economy, too! And often, the combination of TRITHION and another miticide increases the effectiveness of both products.

Nuisance Fires

Attending Parley

Two nuisance fires Thursday night harassed volunteer firemen of three local companies as they were attending the opening of the annual Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association convention at Saugerties.

The ruins of the 133-year-old lead mill at Glenerie which had been smouldering since Tuesday when a fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Saugerties landmark, flared up with renewed vigor.

Glasco Fire Company volunteers were called to the scene at 8:28 p. m. and C. A. Lynch Fire Company of Saugerties was dispatched to standby for Glasco District. The recall was at 9:29 p. m.

A flareup at the Quarryville dump behind the old schoolhouse alerted Centerville Fire Company volunteers and one pumper truck responded at 9:18 p. m.

Most of the firemen at the convention had completed dinner and were assembling at Saugerties firehouse when the alarms sounded. Mutual Aid radio at the firehouse gave the locations of the fires.

Britten's "Lucretia" Opens Four-Day Run at The Turnau

The Turnau Opera Players will present "The Rape of Lucretia" starting tonight at 8:30 at the Byrdcliffe Theatre in Woodstock. The opera will also be presented July 27, 29 and 30.

Adelaide Bishop is stage director for the two-act Benjamin Britten opera.

Miss Bishop has a close association with the Britten opera which included a singing role in the 1948 Broadway production at the Ziegfeld Theatre and the 1956 Shakespeare Festival at Stratford, Ontario. Miss Bishop served as stage director for the production of "The Rape of Lucretia" at Boston University. She has served as director of opera departments at Boston University and Henry Street Music School. Presently she is at the Mannes College of Music and the new Brooklyn Music School. Miss Bishop also serves as director for the newly formed American School of Lyric Theatre in Washington, D. C.

Turnau's cast for the opera includes: Shirley Love in the title role; Lucretia; Robert Gregori as Tarquinus, the Etruscan Prince of Rome; Georgia Davis as Bianca, the elderly retainer; Carol Toscana as Lucia, the young maid; Alan Baker as Junius, a Roman general; and Don Yule as Collatinus, a Roman general and husband of Lucretia. The opera features a female and

Distributing Fire Signs in Lake Hill Area

Members of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3, of the Willow Lake Hill-Shady area, are engaged in the distribution of the new fire numbering signs for the properties in the area.

The numbering signs, which are keyed-in with a large map in the firehouse, are being presented to each property owner by members of the fire company, along with a special fire cap for the telephone and instructions as to the method utilized by the new system.

Going Two Weeks

Distribution began two weeks ago, according to a fire company official, and most of the citizens contacted to date have cooperated with the fire company in the erection of the signs in the proper places.

"It is to the advantage of the property owner to place our signs in the proper location as soon as they receive them," said a fire company officer. "The numbering system is now being used and any person not posting the sign could become the victim of a serious loss due to the inability and confusion in finding their property in case of fire."

Along with the distribution of the signs, the firemen are making a survey of conditions on the property and noting any available source of water nearby, said the fire official.

Perfect Setting For Antique Show Is The Red Barn

A rustic barn, more than a century old, forms a perfect setting for the 14th Annual Antiques Show in Woodstock. It is the legendary Red Barn and will house the show on Aug. 1-2-3-4.

Its own antiquity gives a warm and mellow atmosphere. Visitors come from every state in the union to enjoy the beauty of construction, which is a rare treat in this area, as most all the very old large barns have long since vanished from the Catskill Mountain scene.

In 1946 the barn was slightly remodeled to house an antique shop. All the hand hewn beams are still exposed to view and one can still see where the cow stanchions were. The wooden gate is still apparent and children like to talk about it. The section used as the office was once used for the nursery for the baby calves.

Many Exhibitors

The list of exhibitors is endless and imposing. Some of them are: Mrs. Harry Gross, Sparta, N. Y.; Helen Cox, White Plains; Verna Elliott, Saugerties; Neile Ellendorf, Kingston; Jean Fleisher, Albany; Mosher Antiques, Earleville; Country Antiques, Germantown; Betty's Barn, New Scotland, N. Y.; J. Perrino, Middletown; Lock Stock and Barrel, Kingston; Emmett Henderson, Middletown; Anna Hender, Hudson; Donald Johnson, Woodstock.

Also, Mrs. Ruth Lunderman, Coxsackie; Lillian Quick, Stone Ridge; Mollis Ruslander, Albany; Robert Seymour, Chelsea-on-Hudson; Mrs. Harry Stevens, Middleburgh; Pauline Stone Summers, Woodstock; Tow Path Antiques, High Falls; and Mrs. Currie, Palmyra, N. J.

"This is the time to come and enjoy the show and perhaps find that treasure you have been looking for," says Louise Bolton, director. "Perhaps it may be a rare book, an antiques lamp, a doll, a rare piece of art glass, paintings. Whatever it is you have been searching for, you may find it at this show."

The show is open daily from 11 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Aluminum Firms, 3 Unions Still Talking

NEW YORK (AP)—Five major aluminum manufacturers and three AFL-CIO unions went into their ninth day of negotiations today, exploring possible revision of two-year wage contracts.

Present contracts expire July 31, 1964, and provide for wages and fringe benefits averaging about $3.80 an hour for more than 50,000 workers in 55 plants operated by the five firms.

Separate meetings are being conducted by the United Steel Workers of America and all five companies—Aluminum Co. of America, Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Co., Reynolds Metals Co., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., and Ormet Corp.

The Aluminum Workers International Union is meeting with negotiators for Alcoa, Kaiser and Reynolds. The United Auto Workers Union is meeting only with Alcoa.

The age of automation has not displaced the blacksmith. Many modern steel mills still have one or more blacksmiths, whose job it is to make special parts.

Monticello Raceway Expects First Million Handle Saturday

Monticello Raceway could reach another milestone Saturday with the first million-dollar handle in its history for the combined day and night program.

This will be the first of the track's two double-headers this year and judging by the recent attendance and wagering at the Mighty M, the million-dollar level is well within the realm of possibility.

Meanwhile, Worth Seein, to be driven by Eddie Cobb for Stanley Dancer, will be the early 5-2 favorite against eight classy opponents when nine of the best trotters in the nation compete at the raceway in the fifth and final preliminary leg of the Harness Trotting Association. The top 10-point scorers in the series will be eligible to battle in the $50,000 final at Yonkers Raceway on Aug. 1.

Saturday's race is for a $12,300 purse.

Worth Seein was established as the morning line choice after pulling the number one post position in the draw Wednesday. Sanders Russell's A. C. Viking is the second choice at 4-1 from the fourth slot.

The HTA trot will be the feature event of the day but the afternoon session will be highlighted by an exhibition race, which previously proved extremely popular at Vernon Downs.

Officials Optimistic

Worth Seein, one of the stars in Stanley Dancer's stable, in two starts, has posted a second and a first, respectively.

Such Monticello figures as Frank Devlin, Leon Greenberg, Milt Kutsher and Sidney Sussman weren't quoted as making any rash predictions on the million-dollar handle.

But there was no debating the fact that the twin double has provided a tremendous boost in the track's business this season. The handle is up 28 per cent, the attendance 16 per cent and the per capita betting 11 per cent. Thus, there is sound reason for their optimism regarding the possibility of a million-dollar, day and night handle.

Our best double-header figures were recorded last July 28, when the combined attendance of 16,718 bet $893,979. Greenberg said. He said, "That betting total was reached without any twin double. We believe that extra wagering on the twin double, and higher betting overall, by larger crowds, attracted by the TD, make the million-dollar handle a distinct possibility."

Expect 17,000 Fans

If the weatherman cooperates, an afternoon crowd of 5,000 and a night-time turnout of 12,000 will convert the possibility into a certainty.

The Saturday night program has in the HTA Trot a feature worthy of a 12,000 crowd. Nine of the country's outstanding four-year-olds are scheduled to answer the call to the starting gate. Local fans have become "pretty hep," as one observer put it, while metropolitan area fans valuating the Monticello resort spots easily recognize the names and potentials of such as Worth Seein, A. C's Viking, Lord Gordon, Sprite Rodney, Terrel, Apex Hanover, Rooney Hanover, Linda's Lucky Guy and Delight Hanover, the trotters in the $12,300 race.

The drawing power of such ace reinmen as Frank Ervin, Joe O'Brien, Sanders Russell, and others can't be discounted either.

In the HTA series to date, Russell's 1962 Hambletonian champion, A. C's Viking, is the leader with 45 points. He won the first leg at Northville Downs half-mile track in 2:01. Vernon Dancer's Pro Hanover, which won two legs at Scoito Downs and the Meadows, is out of this week's race due to reported lameness.

Worth Seein showed she is at the peak of her form by winning at Liberty Bell's five-eighth mile track last week in 1:59.4. This clocking compared favorably with her 1:58 time trial over Lexington's mile oval last year.

Lord Gordon Threat

Chief opposition is expected to come from among Lord Gordon, starting from the two slots with Jim Grundy catch-driving for

Russell's 1962 Hambletonian and John Patterson; Apex Hanover, the trotters in the $12,300 race.

In addition to the track program, the matinee will feature the annual Miss Sullivan County-Catskills beauty pageant and an exhibition race featuring a number of top Shetland pony trotters.

Last Saturday's figures provided evidence that the million-dollar handle could be cracked Saturday. Last week, 12,601 fans wagered on all-time single night high for the track of $704,573.

Yonkers, Roosevelt and Santa Anita are the only harness tracks in America that have hit the million-dollar betting mark. It may take two programs in one day to attain that figure at MR, experts say, but the track powers reportedly "will take it and enjoy the distinction of million-dollar status."

Jockeys Brooks, Notter Head For Hall of Fame

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Jockeys Steve Brooks and Joe Notter, trainer Preston M. Burch and four horses, including the great Native Dancer, will be installed next week in the Hall of Fame at the National Museum of Racing at Saratoga Springs.

Selection of the men and horses was announced Wednesday by John C. Clark, Hall of Fame committee chairman.

Clark said 49 selected racing writers, sports editors and columnists took part in the election.

Native Dancer, owned by Alfred G. Vanderbilt, won 21 of 22 races and suffered his only defeat in the 1953 Kentucky Derby.

The other horses selected for the Hall of Fame are Calumet Farm's Armed, and two famous race horses, the late William L. Brann's Gallorette and Calumet's Twilight Tear.

Both Retired

Burch and Notter, both retired, and Brooks will attend a ceremony at the Museum Aug. 2 when the new members will be installed. Representatives of the horses also will attend to accept the awards.

Native Dancer, one of the most popular horses of modern times, earned $785,240. He received 40 of the 49 first place ballots, and Armed was named on 29 ballots. Brann received 37 votes.

Although only one spot was set aside initially for jockeys, the committee decided to install both Notter and Brooks because they were tied in the balloting.

Burch, a native of Augusta, Ga., trained 1,236 winners of $6,205,335. Born in 1884, he now lives in Virginia. His first winner was Suzy, at Gravesend, Sept. 30, 1902.

Notter, born in New York where he still lives, rode from 1904 through 1918. His best mount was the unbeaten Colin, 1908 Belmont winner. He also rode Regret, only filly to win the Kentucky Derby, in 1915.

Scored 4,000 Wins

Brooks, born near McCook, Neb., in 1921, is still one of the nation's leading riders. He got his 4,000th victory at Gulfstream Park last April 8. His mounts have earned more than $15 million. Brooks won the 1949 Kentucky Derby with Ponder.

Armed, a 1941 foal, won 41 races and earned $817,000. He won many of the nation's top races, including the Pimlico Special, Park and Gulfstream Park Handicaps.

Twilight Tear won the Arlington Classic and Pimlico Special and was 1944 horse of the year. She earned $202,165.

Gallorette beat male runners in the Metropolitan, Brooklyn, Empire City, Whitney, Carter and other handicaps. Her earnings totaled $445,535.

County Women's Golf Championships Will Open Tuesday

McBride Cools Off Yanks, 5-0

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees lost a ball game, which doesn't really hurt. They also lost a ball player which could hurt very much indeed.

That's because he's a very special ball player named Mickey Mantle, and he may be out for the season.

Immediately after the Yankees' 5-0 loss to the Los Angeles Angels Thursday, Manager Ralph Houk announced that Mantle has a loose cartilage in his left knee.

"The damn thing could tighten up in three days," Houk said. "Or it could be a month. Or it could be longer."

The Angels' Ken McBride cooled off the defending world champions in fine shape Thursday, limiting them to three scattered singles in the shutout.

Second-place Chicago edged Detroit 4-3 and lopped a full game off the Yanks' American League margin, which stands at a healthy eight games. Kansas City blanked Boston 2-0, Baltimore beat Washington 4-2 and Cleveland edged Minnesota 3-2 in the others.

Only 96 Pitches

McBride needed only 96 pitches in recording his third victory of the season over the Yanks.

Nellie Fox drove in three runs with a pair of singles and scored another one to account for all the White Sox runs against Detroit. Don Wert hit a three-run homer for the losers.

John Powell had a two-run homer, John Orsino singled in two more and Robin Roberts recorded his 252nd major league victory in the Orioles' triumph over the Senators. Baltimore now has beaten Washington 11 times in 12 meetings this season.

Kansas City's surprising athletics got only three hits off Boston's Bill Monbouquette but turned two of them into runs while Ed Rakow, Bill Fischer and John Wyatt blanked the Red Sox on six hits.

Willie Kirkland settled things for Cleveland, stroking a three-run eighth-inning homer, bringing the Indians from behind a 2-0 deficit and beating Minnesota.

Mays' Bat Hot Again For Frisco

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It may be too early yet to tell whether Willie Mays, admittedly a streak hitter, is on one of his patented power displays.

If he is, the San Francisco Giants may yet give Los Angeles a run for the National League pennant. Who knows? They may even duplicate last year's late season surge when they forced the Dodgers into a play-off and then beat them for the championship.

The 18-hole finals are slated at Wiltwyck Country Club on Wednesday, Aug. 7.

Mrs. A. J. (Wiggle) de Lisi is the defending champion, having won all four previous tournaments.

All five clubs in the UCWGA are represented in the tournament. Mrs. William D. (Chris) Harris of Twaalfkill, one of the county's top women stars, is not in the field this year.
